Everyone should have an equal chance at living a healthy life, regardless of a person's ethnicity, income or zip code.

Executive Director

This year we have celebrated the power of partnerships; it's a value that we uphold in everything we do at Con Alma Health Foundation. It is reflected in our partnerships with our grantees and funding partners. In our grant investments, comprehensive studies and advocacy work, we know we can accomplish more by bringing people together to find solutions to our health challenges and work toward health equity in New Mexico.

In one of our major collaborations this year, we partnered with the W.K. Kellogg Foundation and the Health Equity Partnership, an initiative at the Santa Fe Community Foundation, on our latest project to bolster New Mexico's health-care safety net and advocate for strong health policies. Together with our partners, we will identify the most impactful next steps from our report, Achieving Equity in Health for Children and Families in New Mexico Through the Affordable Care Act. We expect this collective effort, funded by a $200,000 grant from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation, will result in stronger networks that can address continuing issues around health care and the health needs of all.

We also studied the impact of grandparents raising grandchildren in New Mexico, particularly in situations where parents are not involved. We distributed our findings to local and state decision makers so they could understand the stories behind our statistics and learn how government, nonprofits and advocates can better support a population that often works and lives in poverty. We included information in our report, Grandparents Raising Grandchildren in New Mexico: Understanding the Trend & Stemming the Tide, about how we can strengthen our families so grandparents aren't solely responsible for their grandchildren.

In addition to our initiatives, we invest resources in joining incredible organizations that aim to reduce racism, improve border health and strengthen the nonprofit sector. This year we continued to champion the goals of the New Mexico Health Equity Working Group, U.S.- Mexico Border Philanthropy Partnership and New Mexico Association of Grantmakers.

Our ultimate partners are the dedicated members of our Board of Trustees and Community Advisory Committee—people who share our values and their insight into health issues affecting their diverse communities. We thank our devoted members and professional staff for helping us build partnerships and invest in change so all individuals have an equal chance at living a healthy life, regardless of their income, race or zip code.

In Partnership,

Alfredo Vigil, MD and Dolores E. Roybal, PhD, MSW

History

IN 2001, policy makers and health-consumer advocates collaborated to establish Con Alma Health Foundation as the best way to invest more than $20 million from the sale of Blue Cross Blue Shield of New Mexico. State law required that its assets be set aside for a nonprofit dedicated to health in New Mexico.

A year later the nonprofit Banner Health Systems sold Los Alamos Medical Center to a for-profit corporation, creating a fund from some of the proceeds to serve the health-care needs of people living in Los Alamos, Rio Arriba and northern Santa Fe counties. We partner with the Hospital Auxiliary of the Los Alamos Medical Center as the Northern New Mexico Health Grants Group (NNMHGG) to award annual grants from the fund.

For 17 years, we have followed our collaborative roots—investing more than $14 million in nonprofits improving health in New Mexico and bringing people together to work toward health equity.

Mission

CON ALMA HEALTH FOUNDATION is organized to be aware of and respond to the health rights and needs of the culturally and demographically diverse peoples and communities of New Mexico. Con Alma seeks to improve the health status and access to health care services for all New Mexican communities and advocates for a health policy that addresses the health needs of all in New Mexico. The Foundation makes grants, contributions, and program-related investments to fulfill its mission.

Core Values

Guiding Con Alma Health Foundation are six core values

- 1 Improve the health status of all New Mexicans
- 2 Maintain the public trust
- 3 Involve, collaborate and partner with New Mexico communities
- 4 Innovate and lead
- 5 Teach and learn
- 6 Be an effective advocate for a health policy which supports the Foundation's charitable purpose and mission

OPHELIA REEDER
Executive Director,
Behavioral Health
Substance Treatment
Center

Applying her passion for health equity and her extensive experience in building coalitions, Ophelia Reeder has brought people and organizations together to improve public health in northwestern New Mexico.

For 17 years, Ms. Reeder facilitated the McKinley Community Health Council. In that role she engaged government, educational institutions, hospitals, community leaders and elected officials to address complex health issues in the Navajo Nation and throughout the region.

Today Ms. Reeder is executive director of the Behavioral Health Substance Treatment Center at the Rehoboth McKinley Christian Hospital in Gallup. Also, her community of Mentmore selected her to serve on the board of Gallup Indian Medical Center.

Helen Tso, a health services outreach officer for the University of New Mexico Health Sciences Center's Office for Community Health, nominated Ms. Reeder to be a Hero of Health. In her nomination letter, Ms. Tso wrote, "Her tenacity for equality and her insights about the broad spectrum of health in a part of the state that depends on such dedicated individuals continue to be a benefit for the whole community."

In recognition of Ms. Reeder's distinguished service, Con Alma is donating $1,000 to her chosen nonprofit, Alzheimer's Association, New Mexico Chapter, with the funds designated for McKinley County.

MARY STOECKER
Health Promotion
Specialist, New Mexico
Department of Health
(retired)

Mary Stoecker understands the importance of bringing people together to improve the economic resiliency of rural New Mexico.

Ms. Stoecker spent 20 years fostering a culture of regional collaboration in Grant, Catron, Luna and Hidalgo counties in her position with the New Mexico Department of Health. She facilitated groundbreaking dialogue so that the counties could identify their needs and turn ideas into action, and she trained hundreds on strategic systems planning to improve community health.

She also was instrumental in establishing and facilitating the Corre Caminos Regional Transit System, the Inmate Support program, and the southwestern New Mexico Regional Strategic Plan for Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy.

Ms. Stoecker notes that many incredible people have worked on partnered initiatives in New Mexico communities. "It takes so darn long to affect system and policy changes that a 'kudo' to those working and volunteering in the field of health promotion and community organizing really helps them to keep at it," she said. "I'll be representing all those folks in Grant County and our three partner counties of Catron, Luna and Hidalgo."

In honor of Ms. Stoecker, Con Alma is donating $1,000 to the nonprofit she selected, the Inmate Support Program of the Behavioral Health Collaborative Continuum of Care in Grant County.

We are shining a light on the power of partnerships this year because it is key to everything we do—our grants, our advocacy, our initiatives, and our ultimate goal of achieving health equity in New Mexico. We know it is our rich partnerships that allowed us to receive the Public Health Advocate award from the New Mexico Public Health Association for making a “positive health-related change.”

Our long-term partnership with the New Mexico Health Equity Working Group brings people together to work toward health equity and eliminate institutional racism. Our involvement with the U.S. Border Philanthropy Partnership is another essential partnership that aligns with our values to support everyone who lives in New Mexico, especially those who are under-insured and marginalized, like immigrants and seniors.

We have previously studied the needs of seniors, and this year we worked with others to study the population of grandparents raising grandchildren to learn how to best support them and prevent others from raising their grandchildren alone.

We will continue to explore critical health issues and work with the connections we've made over the past 17 years. We thank all of our partners; they remind us of the true wealth of New Mexico—our people.

MULTI-YEAR GRANTEES This year we worked with Sancre Productions to create four short videos that highlight the efforts of four nonprofits that received three-year grants, from 2014 to 2017, worth $150,000 each to progress their work in increasing people’s ability to get affordable health care and improving the quality of care.

“The New Mexico Alliance for School-Based Health Care seeks to identify and promote system-wide solutions to improve access to quality health care for young people. Our work has strengthened partnerships among a wide range of individuals and organizations and has led to an overall healthier New Mexico.”

New Mexico Alliance for School-based Health Care

“Our association was established to collectively improve health care for New Mexicans by advocating for our members and empowering them through education. Certification for community health workers has been a collaborative process among many different partners, including the Con Alma Health Foundation.”

New Mexico Community Health Worker Association

“The VIDA (Vision for Dignity, Access and Accountability in Health Care) program at Casa de Salud is an element of community engagement that is critical towards involving the community in broader efforts beyond day-to-day health care service delivery to achieve health equity.”

VIDA (Vision for Dignity, Access and Accountability in Health Care) program

“The New Mexico Center on Law and Poverty works primarily on behalf of hard-working New Mexicans, and one of the main barriers we’re trying to address is access to health care. Having an organization like Con Alma to fund the work of multiple organizations that increase health care access for everyone is an incredible asset to have in our state.”

PUBLIC HEALTH ADVOCACY AWARD

"Con Alma engages others in program initiatives and leverages resources to support community problem-solving, self-definition, self-determination and capacity building. It looks to culture, tradition and community for existing strengths and assets that can serve as solutions to community needs."

Ron Hale, Co-chair, New Mexico Alliance of Health Councils

"From the moment Dolores Roybal said that Con Alma would support our effort to convene all of the health councils in September 2010 to consider forming a statewide alliance of health councils, it was clear that the Con Alma Health Foundation was a lot more than just a funder. They have been a full partner in supporting the health councils, identifying multiple opportunities to work together in creative ways in all the years since then. Leaving the old paradigm of being 'just a funder' behind, Con Alma leads the way with the partnership model!"

Marsha McMurray-Avila, Executive Director, Bernalillo County Community Health Council

GRANDPARENTS RAISING GRANDCHILDREN

"Con Alma recognizes that partnerships are necessary to help New Mexico be a healthier state. Its Grandparents Raising Grandchildren report increased awareness of a critical issue in our state—how more grandparents are raising their grandchildren without parental involvement—and recommends how policy makers, nonprofits and others can work together to support this population and help families stay intact."

Susie Trujillo, Con Alma Health Foundation Community Advisory Committee Member

BORDER PHILANTHROPY PARTNERSHIP

"Connecting with Con Alma Health Foundation has given us critical institutional credibility, allowing us to reach more than 240 volunteers from over 100 government, nonprofit and philanthropy organizations. We continue to build key partnerships to support and strengthen the important work of these leaders and organizations."

Andy Carey, Executive Director, U.S.-Mexico Border Philanthropy Partnership

HEALTH EQUITY WORKING GROUP

"The Deconstructing Racism Committee thanks Con Alma for being such an enthusiastic and stalwart partner in addressing institutional racism by co-sponsoring Anti-Racism Day at the State Legislature for the past nine years. This partnership has enabled us to engage students in answering the question, "How Has Racism Affected Me," sharing their answers with the New Mexico Senate and in our event in the Rotunda, and providing venues for our many partners to participate in the Anti-Racism Day events."
