14  Our People
As we reflect on another busy, productive year, we are grateful for our incredible partners who make it possible for us to work toward health equity for everyone who lives here.

As in previous years, we remain committed to our support of organizations that focus on underserved populations. We work with Border Philanthropy Partnership to advance health equity through leadership, collaboration and philanthropy in the border region, and with the UNM Transdisciplinary Research, Equity and Engagement (UNM TREE Center) to advance behavioral health.

We continued collaborating with nonprofits and other stakeholders through a W.K. Kellogg Foundation two-year grant aimed at strengthening our fragile health-care safety net and bolstering health-care reform efforts. By bringing diverse groups of people together, we are strengthening relationships with organizations focused on health issues and creating successful networks to guide policy makers and stakeholders in how they can best support our children and families as well as advocate for the health needs of all.

For this year’s report we chose the theme, New Mexico Counts, to highlight the critical importance of every New Mexican being counted in the upcoming 2020 Census. Our work with other funders included urging the federal government to not add a citizenship question, which would have undermined the accuracy of the count here and across the country. Our advocacy reflects our mission to improve the health status of New Mexicans and be aware of and respond to the health rights and needs of our culturally diverse population. Our center spread provides information about our efforts and what you can do to get every New Mexican counted.

As always, we must credit our grantees, funding partners, committed staff and members of our Board of Trustees and Community Advisory Committee. We appreciate your time and dedication in helping us achieve our goal of improving health in New Mexico.

To your health! ¡Para su Salud!

Valerie Romero-Leggott, MD and Dolores E. Roybal, PhD, MSW
Our six CORE VALUES are the roots of Con Alma and reflected in all the work we do – the grants we distribute as well as initiatives BEYOND GRANTMAKING.

1. IMPROVE THE HEALTH STATUS OF ALL NEW MEXICANS
With funding from W.K. Kellogg Foundation we’ve continued our work in 2018 towards a stronger, more resilient healthcare safety net for children and families in New Mexico. With partner organizations throughout the state we’re increasing our capacity to address health reform issues and raise the voice of underrepresented populations. Together, we’re identifying specific actions that individuals and organizations can take to move reform forward in New Mexico.

2. MAINTAIN PUBLIC TRUST
We are committed to fiscal transparency and accountability. Since our inception in 2001, we have invested over $15 million in nonprofits improving health throughout the state and closed this year with more than $25 million in assets. Because we invest in broad, systemic changes we formed an evaluation committee in 2018 to assess our total impact. We recognize that maintaining public trust goes beyond financial transparency. We cultivate relationships by being present in our partners’ communities, trusting they know what they need and honoring their cultural traditions.

3. INVOLVE, COLLABORATE AND PARTNER WITH NEW MEXICO COMMUNITIES
Collaborating and partnering is a focal point of all our work. We have a commitment to rural communities and brought the voice of rural New Mexico nonprofits and funders to large, national funders through our partnership with the Rural Philanthropic Analysis Project, a project of Campbell University. The University studied our philanthropic work here to better understand rural places and funding practices that support healthy, equitable rural communities.
We are non-prescriptive. We never make the decision about what the policy should be, what the strategy should be. We’re bringing people together from all over, we’re getting their feedback in terms of what they think are the actionable agenda items that we should move forward. We never decide. One of our core values is self-determination.

DOLORES E. ROYBAL, Executive Director
Our selection committee chose Tom Faber, pediatrician at Zuni Indian Hospital and founder of Zuni Youth Enrichment Project as our 2018 Hero of Health. His nomination stood out for his collaborative, sustainable work improving access to healthy food and physical activity opportunities while preserving Zuni Pueblo’s culture. Tom garnered local support and founded Zuni Youth Enrichment Project (ZYEP) in response to the need for organized children’s activities. ZYEP promotes resilience among Zuni youth, so they will grow into strong and healthy adults who are connected with Zuni traditions. As part of that effort, Tom and his partners cultivated community gardens and established the first sports leagues in the rural pueblo that stretches over 450,000 acres in McKinley and Cibola counties.

Since 2008, ZYEP has offered thousands of youth programs focused on Zuni language acquisition, traditional agriculture, pueblo art, culturally significant sites, oral storytelling, and connection to elders. Most recently ZYEP opened Ho’n A:wan Park, a 3-acre park featuring Zuni’s first performing art space, community center, walking trails, community garden, basketball courts, and an athletic field. In honor of Tom and his volunteer work on behalf of Zuni families, we donated $1,000 to the nonprofit he selected, ZYEP.
A CENSUS WORKER in 1990 travels on horseback to reach homes in rural New Mexico. About a quarter of our population live in rural communities, including six counties that are entirely rural—higher than the national average.

Our rural nature is one of the reasons New Mexico is considered the hardest state in the nation to count in the upcoming 2020 Census, an issue with dire consequences for New Mexico that is bringing foundations together to advocate for funding to ensure an accurate count.

1990 Census Enumeration in New Mexico on Horseback
What’s at stake

In 1990, the Census Bureau missed counting 1.6 percent of our country’s population, and New Mexico’s undercount was almost double the national average. If we are undercounted by 1 percent in the upcoming census, we will lose $750 million in federal funding over the next 10 years.

This critical public funding is used to strengthen our public schools, build our highways, provide food stamps for people in need, make local planning decisions and deliver health care services.
What we are doing

We are a member of the 2020 New Mexico Census Funder Collaborative, which urged the government to withdraw the citizenship question from the 2020 Census questionnaire because we believe it will significantly undermine efforts to achieve a fair and accurate census. As of May 2019, our group raised about $730,000, with the help of national funders, to advance an aligned strategy and support non-profits reaching out to hard-to-count communities. Our 2020 website, https://nmcounts2020.org, provides key information on the financial impact of the census by county and city as well as funding opportunities and ways to get involved.

What you can do

You can spread the word in your local community about how important it is to fill out the census questionnaire. Some activities that could bolster our state’s census response include joining or forming a local Complete Counts Committee, raising awareness by incorporating census information in newsletters, social media posts, podcasts, mailings and websites; and hosting social events.

If we are UNDERCOUNTED BY 1 PERCENT in the upcoming census, WE WILL LOSE $750 MILLION IN FEDERAL FUNDING over the next 10 years.
