We all deserve to live in safe places, feel confident in our children’s education and have access to health care from someone who understands our language and beliefs. In my role as nurse and president of Con Alma’s Board of Trustees, I am fortunate to work with people across our beautiful state who recognize that every person is valuable and that we all have to work harder to make our systems and policies just.

We are honored to support organizations throughout New Mexico that are rallying for change—to empower individuals to lead healthy lives and to promote equity for all of our diverse populations.”

Deborah Walker,
President,
Con Alma Health Foundation
We are happy to share with you highlights from our special focus on health equity in 2019. It was a year of collaboration as we worked with partners to ensure a complete census count and wrap up our W. K. Kellogg Foundation grant. The two-year grant sought to enhance health reform and strengthen the state’s health-care safety net as well as expand our network of nonprofits and stakeholders to advocate for policies, services or activities that impact health care and health equity.

We partnered with the New Mexico Health Equity Partnership, an initiative of the Santa Fe Community Foundation, to bring together a diverse group of people to determine how we can ensure that all children and families have a fair chance at getting insurance coverage and accessing health care and other social resources which are needed to live a healthy life.

We thank these individuals and the nonprofits, government agencies and businesses they represent for believing in the health rights and needs of low-income and vulnerable populations and being willing to advance policy and other strategies that support health equity. Together, we agreed to focus on the following agenda so everyone has an equal chance at living a healthy life regardless of someone’s race, income or home address:

• Commit to policy change
• Address structural and social determinants of health (conditions in the places where people live, work, learn and play)
• Leverage local, state and federal healthcare resources
• Build capacity through professional development and technical assistance
• Use data to create shared accountability to health outcomes for children and families
• Respond to local, state, and national trends

This year we also continued our partnership with foundations and other nonprofits to advocate for a complete count of our residents in the 2020 census. This is an enormous health-equity issue as our minority, rural and underserved populations have been left out of previous census counts, leading to a loss of federal funds for such critical needs as food and healthcare.

We thank our Board of Trustees and Community Advisory Committee members, and our funding and community partners, for supporting our work toward health equity. You help us extend our reach to all parts of New Mexico, and your time and devotion are invaluable.
Our History

In 2001, policy makers and health-consumer advocates collaborated to establish Con Alma Health Foundation as the best way to invest more than $20 million from the sale of Blue Cross Blue Shield of New Mexico. State law required that its assets be set aside for a nonprofit dedicated to health in New Mexico.

A year later the nonprofit Banner Health Systems sold Los Alamos Medical Center to a for-profit corporation, creating a fund from some of the proceeds to serve the health-care needs of people living in Los Alamos, Rio Arriba and northern Santa Fe counties. We partner with the Hospital Auxiliary of the Los Alamos Medical Center as the Northern New Mexico Health Grants Group (NNMHGG) to award annual grants from the fund.

For 18 years, we have followed our collaborative roots—investing more than $14 million in nonprofits improving health in New Mexico and bringing people together to work toward health equity.
About Con Alma Health Foundation

Mission

Con Alma Health Foundation is organized to be aware of and respond to the health rights and needs of the culturally and demographically diverse peoples and communities of New Mexico. Con Alma seeks to improve the health status and access to health care services for all New Mexican communities and advocates for a health policy that addresses the health needs of all in New Mexico. The foundation makes grants, contributions, and program-related investments to fulfill its mission.

We Are Guided By Six Core Values

1. Improve the health status of all New Mexicans
2. Maintain the public trust
3. Involve, collaborate and partner with New Mexico communities
4. Innovate and lead
5. Teach and learn
6. Be an effective advocate for a health policy which supports the foundation’s charitable purpose and mission
Trinidad de Jesus Arguello, PhD, RN
Co-founder and Administrator of Compostela Community and Family Cultural Institute in Taos County, is this year’s Hero of Health.

Arguello is a nurse, administrator, social worker and advocate who volunteers on numerous national and state boards, including the New Mexico Behavioral Health Planning Council, to help people who need mental health care and domestic violence services.

Her work in New Mexico goes far beyond providing social work and psychiatric health care in rural Northern New Mexico; she has forged strong relationships with local and state entities to address systemic barriers to culturally relevant services for people of color. Her work fulfills Con Alma’s goal of increasing access to health care for under-served and minority populations.

Trinidad’s career as a provider, community activist and adjunct faculty spans Washington, Utah, California and New Mexico. She has presented her work about cultural issues related to Hispanic families, mental health and domestic violence at many conferences and workshops across the United States.

She and her husband founded Compostela Community and Family Cultural Institute, a nonprofit community-based organization, in 2014 to provide quality, culturally appropriate counseling, advocacy and educational services primarily for people of color, including immigrants. The Institute’s innovative model provides those suffering from addiction and chronic illness with both treatment and job training as part of their recovery process. The organization serves individuals and families who tend to fall through the cracks of the current behavioral health system.

We are pleased to honor Trinidad’s dedication toward people in need and her work toward health equity, when everyone has an equal opportunity to lead a healthy life.
"The majority of what impacts health is not the healthcare system—pretty much everything else is what keeps us healthy. How do we provide an environment to keep us healthy and less dependent on the healthcare system?"

Charlie Alfero, Founder and Executive Advisor of the Center for Health Innovation and Founder of HMS, a Community Health Center in Southwestern New Mexico
As the future of health-care reform is uncertain, it is critical that we join together to strengthen our fragile health-care safety net and ensure that we continue to make progress in improving the health of children, families, and communities so all of us have an equal opportunity to lead healthy lives.”

Dolores E. Roybal, PhD, MSW
Executive Director,
Con Alma Health Foundation
Equity matters.

Research shows that people live longer in communities that have access to healthy food, clean air, affordable housing, good jobs and quality schools. We want these resources—that are critical to people’s well-being—distributed equitably.

Our approach.

We work with many organizations in New Mexico that are striving to create more equity in a state that is rich in culture, history and traditions. These organizations advocate for policies that support resources essential to health, such as clean air, safe neighborhoods, employment opportunities, and access to culturally responsive health care.

We support nonprofits that use collaboration and prioritize race, language and culture in their strategies. We follow the leadership and advice of our statewide and diverse Board of Trustees and Community Advisory Committee members, who know the unique needs of their communities.

Most importantly, we follow the lead of the community, knowing that they are best suited to align their strengths with their needs.

Our collaboration

This year we wrapped up a two-year project, Call to Action: Children at the Center, funded by the W.K. Kellogg Foundation. We continued work to strengthen New Mexico’s health-care safety net; to expand the network of advocates protecting and implementing the health-equity provisions in the Affordable Care Act; and to set an agenda for future health care reform work.

Over two years, we connected with over 700 people from every corner of the state. Through this outreach the following three themes were identified as the most critical for New Mexico to address:

- Create a culture of health for all
- Tackle social determinants of health and achieve child health equity in all policies
- Prioritize community as a central force to achieve health equity

These findings reinforce and continue our work from our 2016 report Achieving Equity in Health for Children and Families in New Mexico. Health reform is an issue that requires ongoing collaboration and advocacy, and we are committed to our pursuit of health equity in New Mexico.
Multi-Year Grants
building alliance and capacity to address access and policies that advance health equity and impact underserved populations (Year 3 of 3 for 4 grants, totaling $200,000)
