Con Alma Invites Nonprofits Improving Health to Apply for Grants Nonprofits Can Apply for Grants Starting April 6

(Santa Fé) – Con Alma Health Foundation invites nonprofits that improve health in New Mexico to apply for grants starting April 6 until 5 p.m. May 8 at <http://conalma.org/grantmaking/for-grant-seekers/>.

Last year Con Alma, the state's largest private foundation dedicated solely to health, awarded 42 grants to nonprofits in every region of New Mexico. Con Alma places a special focus on supporting culturally diverse and vulnerable populations as well as working toward health equity, when everyone has an equal chance at living a healthy life regardless of their income, ethnicity or zip code.

Grant applicants need to select a fixed grant amount ranging from $7,500 to $20,000. E-mail questions to grants@conalma.org. Con Alma will consider three types of requests:

- Project support for a specific set of activities or particular goals within the organization's mission
- General operating/core support to fund an organization's mission and scope of operations in their entirety
- Technical assistance/capacity building to strengthen the nonprofit sector and expand or improve an organization's ability to carry out its mission effectively

In a separate grant cycle, Con Alma and the Hospital Auxiliary for Los Alamos Medical Center, working together as the Northern New Mexico Health Grants Group, will accept grant applications from nonprofits that serve Los Alamos, Rio Arriba and northern Santa Fe counties. Grants up to $20,000 are intended to address health needs in the tri-county area. Nonprofits can apply for funding from both Con Alma and Northern New Mexico Health Grant Group.

Throughout the year, Con Alma works with partners in New Mexico to work toward health equity and support underserved communities. Since its inception, the statewide foundation has invested more than $14 million in nonprofits' improving health in New Mexico.
